

Winter at the Kluczinsky farm
at the corner of Christian Street and Hawley Roads.

(Kluczinsky family photo)

Kluczinsky family members with vehicle amid snow by their Christian Street farm.

(Kluczinsky family photo)

032_Snowy-road-to-Sanford-House

Snowy Road leads from Academy Road to the Sanford house by the Congregational Church

(Sanford Family photo)

045_snowy-road

Snow-covered Oxford Road
Note wooden side railings.

(Sanford Family photo)

(Sanford Family photo)

Sanford House in Snow

(Sanford Family photo)

Oxford Center. Note electric poles which show that the photo was take after 1918

(Sanford Family photo)

061_Overlooking-Oxford-green

Overlooking Oxford Center.
Building at right is now Oxford House.

(Sanford Family photo)

062_Cong-church-snow-scene

Oxford Congregational Church.
Note horse shed at right.

(Sanford Family photo)

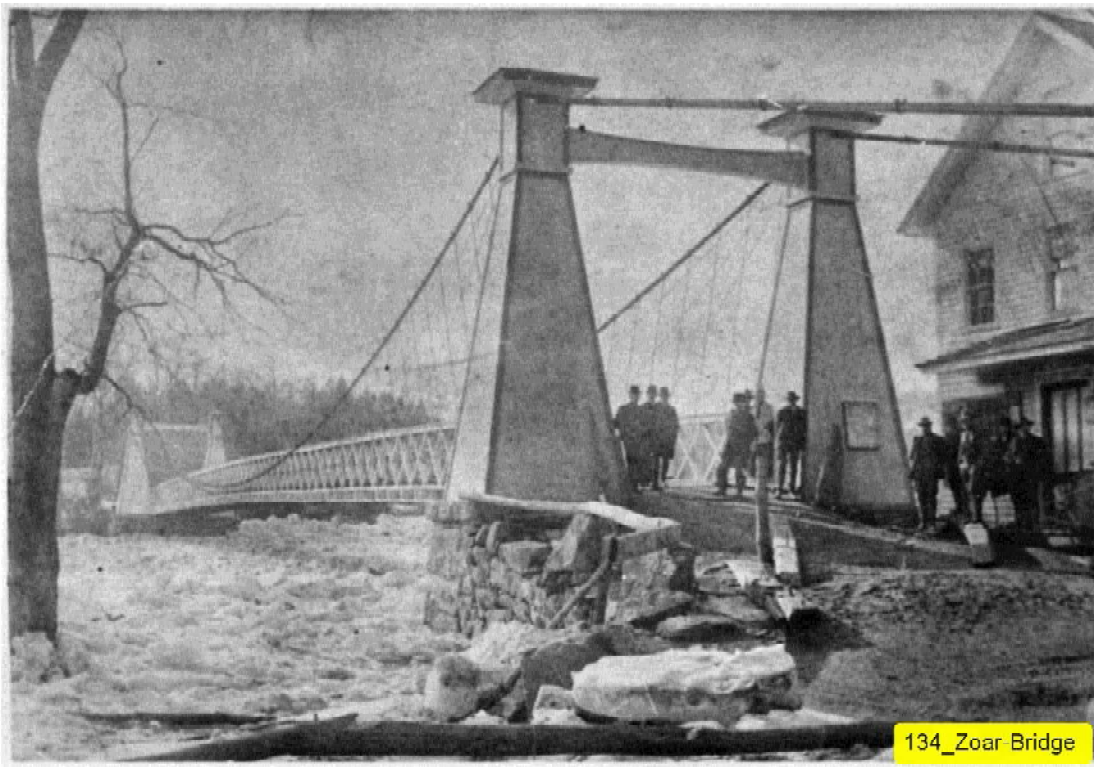

View of Oxford's Upper Green, facing north, with Congregational Church in background.

(Sanford Family photo)

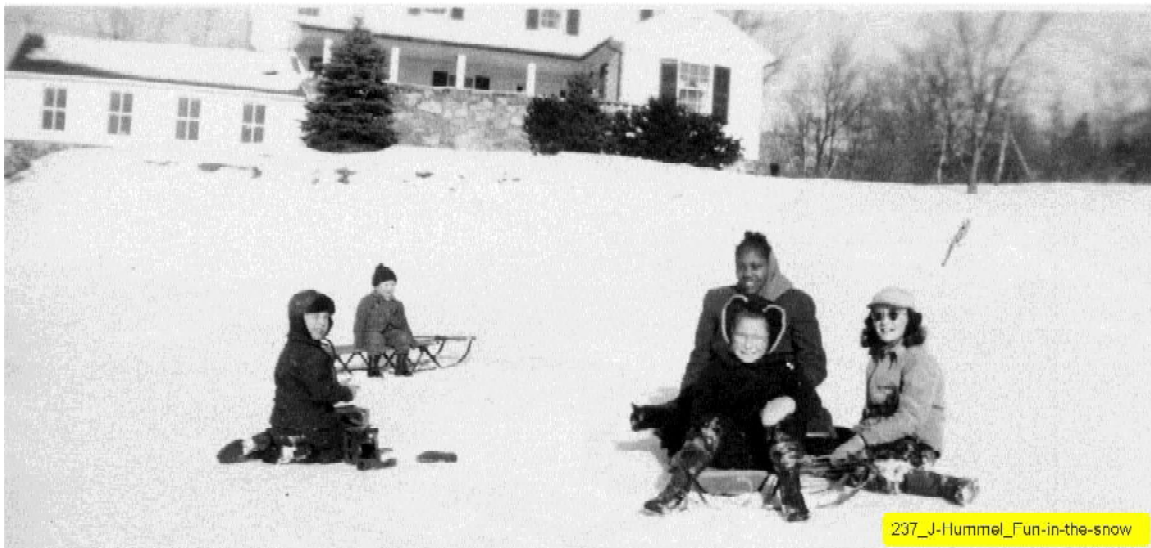

Nelson Cable with horse and carriage at the family farm on Chestnut Tree Hill Road.

(Cable Family Photo, Courtesy Audrey Linke)

Winter meant ice jams on the Housatonic River. Ice jams repeatedly took away earlier bridges.

Children plan in the snow at the Witzler Poultry farm on Coppermine Road in the early 1940's. Mr. Cleveland worked there prior to starting his own poultry farm on Punkup Road.

(Courtesy of Joyce Cleveland Hummel.)

The dam at the Park Road Mill with frozen ice.

(Courtesy Evelyn Montriski McCarthy)

Nelson Cable used oxen to haul wood to heat the family homestead.

(Cable Family Photo, Courtesy Audrey Linke)